lists of commodities and gooos that can be sent from one country to the other have been exchanged.

THE DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: Yes, Mr. Vishwa Bandhu Gupta.

SHRI VISHWA BANDHU GUPTA: Madam, will the honourable Minister consider exporting to Pakistan paan?

THE DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: Next Question. Question No. 139. Mr. Kalmadi.

Delinking of Indian Police Service from the Combined Civil Services Examination

@*139. SHRI SURESH KALMADI: Will the Minister of HOME AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that Government are considering delinking the Indian Police Service from the Combied Civil Services Examination; and

(b) if so, what are the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI BUTA SINGH): (a) No, Madam.

(b) Does not arise.

SHRI SURESH KALMADI: Madam, there is a strong case for delinking the IPS from the Combined Civil Services Examination. In fact, Madam, the National Police Academy, the National Police Commission, the Kothari Commission, all these have recommended delinking and they have felt that there should be a system of recruitment which puts emphasis on mental and physical aptitudes as well as psychological aptitude for selection. Madam, you are aware that today all those who do not pass the IAS Examination then go to the IPS. So, we are not getting people who are motivated to join the IPS. That is why the various bodies like the National Police Academy, the Kothari Commission, etc. had recommended that there should be this delinking. I am surprised when he says that there is no such thing. I would like to request the Government to reconsider this in view of what I have said.

SHRI BUTA SINGH: Madam, the present system of examination for the recruitment to the Civil Services is working satisfactorily and the National Police Commission has not made any specific recommendation for the holding of a separate examination for direct recruitment to the IPS or for delinking the IPS from the Combined Civil Services Examination. In the light of this, I still repeat that the question does not arise.

THE DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: Yes Mr. Kalmadi.

SHRI SURESH KALMADI: Madam, for the entrance examination, the age-limit today is the same as for the IAS, that is, 26 years. Madam, for being in the IPS and for carrying out the job, we need people with physical fitness and aptitude for outdoor activity. I personally feel that the age-limit of 26 years is too far ahead. Would the Government consider reducing the age-limit much below 26 years, maybe 17 years or 18 years, in line with what we have in the National Defence Academy? Could we introduce a lower age-limit so that we can have a team of those people who are dedicated to the IPS and who lik to be in the IPS? Would the Government consider lowering the age-limit?

SHRI BUTA SINGH: Madam, these are the personal views of the honourable Minister which I have taken note of.

THE DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: Now, the next Question. Question No. 140. This is the last question.

@Previously Starred Question 79 transferred from the 30th July, 1987.
